VARIAMU WORKSHOP

VARIations in Action: a MUltilingual approach

Keynote Speaker

Professor Noël Nguyen

Professor William S-Y Wang

Featuring Thematically Paired Talks on Chinese/French by VariAMU Partners

Languages differ in individual variations, in historical changes, and in different socio-cultural contexts. Linguistic differences even show up in different neurocognitions in spite of the common belief that all human beings share the same language faculty. Although it seems self-evident that any two languages, such as Chinese and French, are different from each other, there has never been a concerted effort to systematically map out how and why two languages differ...
